here we learn and make friends

There are many ways to learn new things and broaden our personalities. Every change in our community alters our personalities. The new teacher, the close friend who moved away or dropped out, the person who just moved to WRHS and shares the next locker or class, these are important factors that shape us into ever changing individuals. Here at Willow Run we become aware of these things and work to make friends and learn from each one.

high school personnel keep school buzzing

The personnel of Willow Run High play an active role in the smooth operation of the school. Teachers have the hard time of trying to teach students without hearing the sounds of boredom. The cooks have the task of trying to please everyone in the food they serve. The swishing of brooms are the sounds the hard-working custodians make in keeping our school ship-shape. Last, but certainly not least, there are the administrators who have the hardest job of all, trying to keep everyone happy!

sports stimulate student interest

A great amount of emphasis is placed on sports here at Willow Run and for good reason. How else can a student learn that teamwork and togetherness is essential? How else can he learn that good sportsmanship and working to his full potential is necessary for victory? He learns not only the glory of victory but the agony of defeat, and that's a lot to learn.

activities reflect enthusiasm to learn

Willow Run is a reflection of its students. Their participation in clubs and activities allows the uniqueness of each individual to blend into increasing school spirit. Each year, as new students replace graduates, fresh life is interjected into these events causing an exchange of old and new ideas. Using combined efforts and their own initiative, the students move to get things done and improve the school.

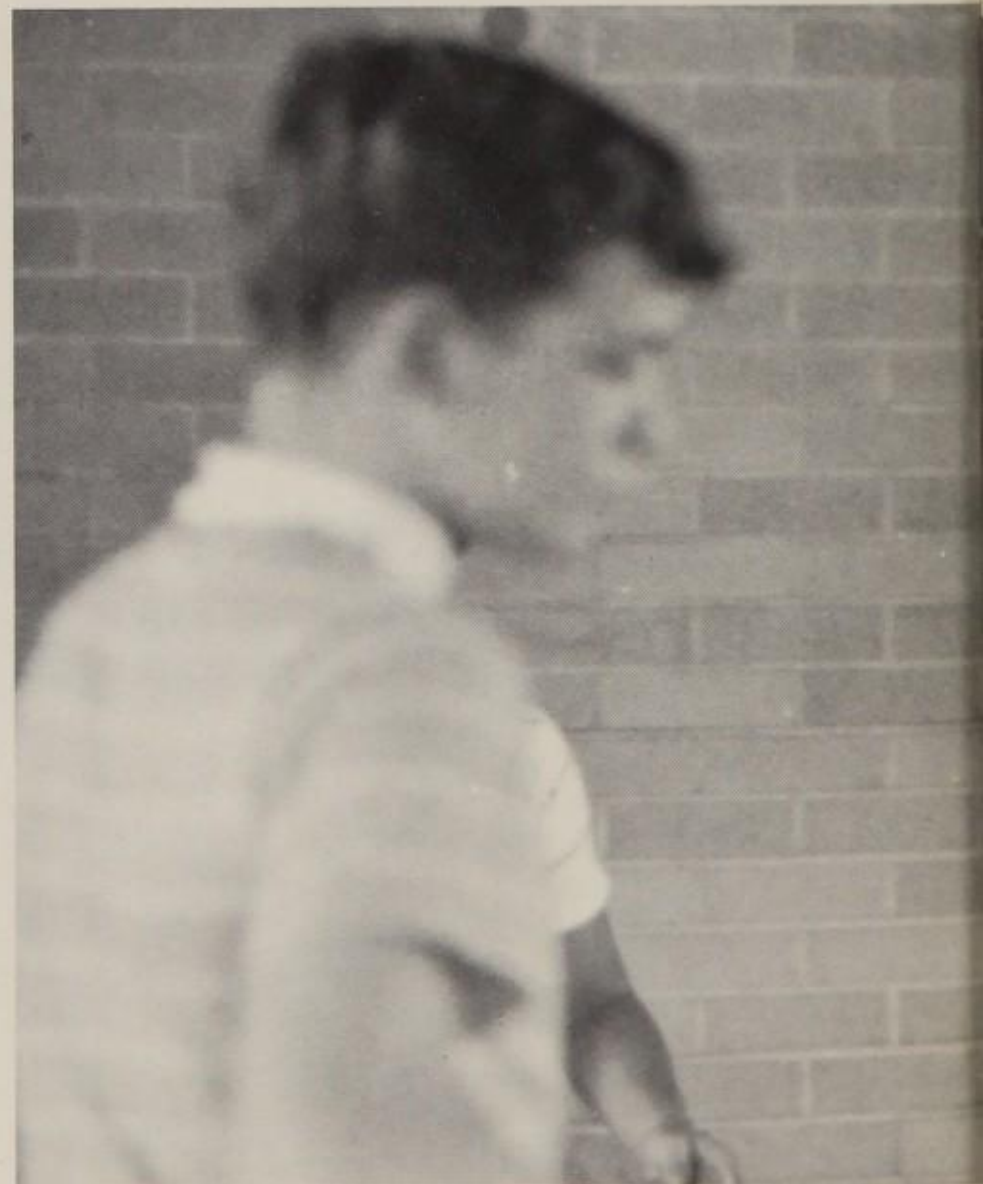

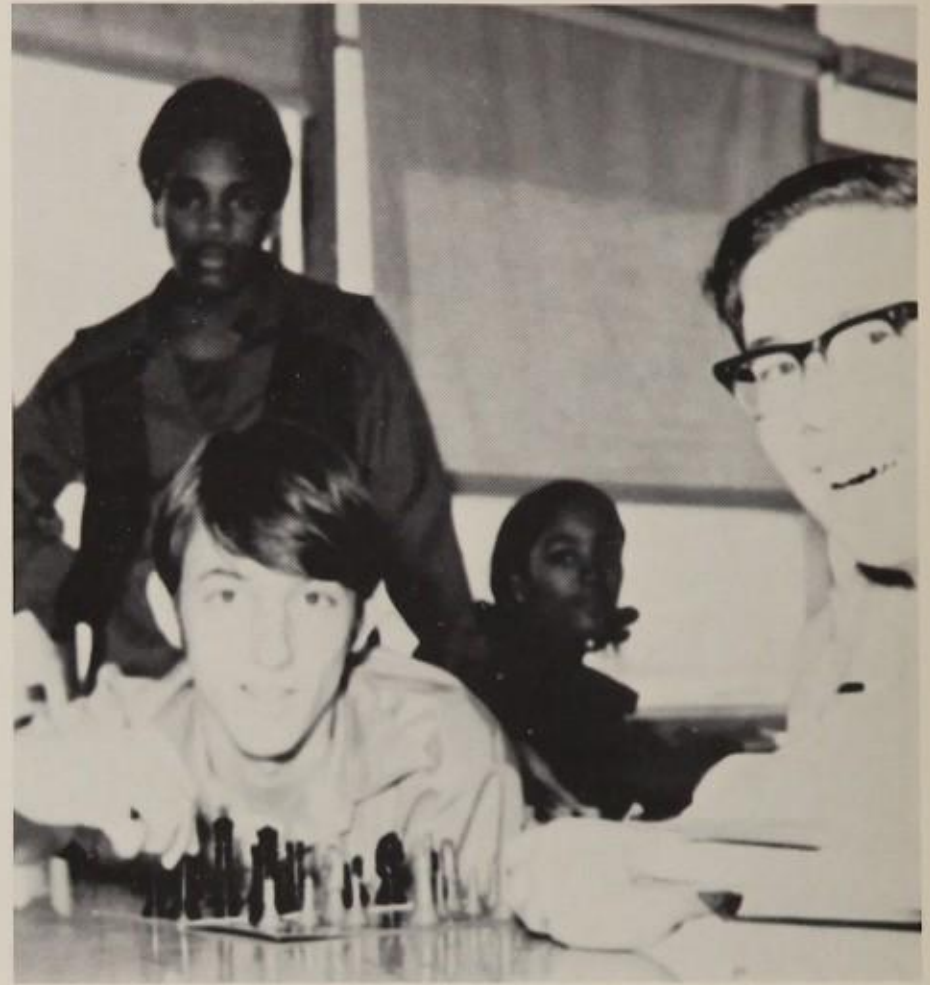

The wide variety of activities permits everyone to find an outlet for his interests. Group activities are an ideal way to discover each pupil's capabilities as a leader and participant.

activities prove to be a rewarding experience for all:

social events provide means of relaxation

Social events at Willow Run provide for each student the opportunity to meet with his friends, relax and take part in new experiences. They help each student develop social graces necessary to enjoy other peoples' company. They provide some of the fondest moments that a student has to remember. What student could forget the joy of going to homecoming with that "certain" person? What girl could forget the pleasure of choosing the dress that's really "her" to wear to the prom? These are the times every student takes with him to enjoy through life, and social events supply them.

bell are ringing, for willow run staffs

Teaching in itself is a real challenge, and we the students of Willow Run High School feel our teachers fulfill their jobs to the highest potential.

Picture yourself in a teacher's point of view. Do you think that you could stand the yawning, shuffling of feet, cracking of gum, clicking of pens and other little obnoxious things we all do? But despite that, teachers encourage the reluctant, and attempt to satisfy the intellectual appetites of the eager, more inquiring pupils.

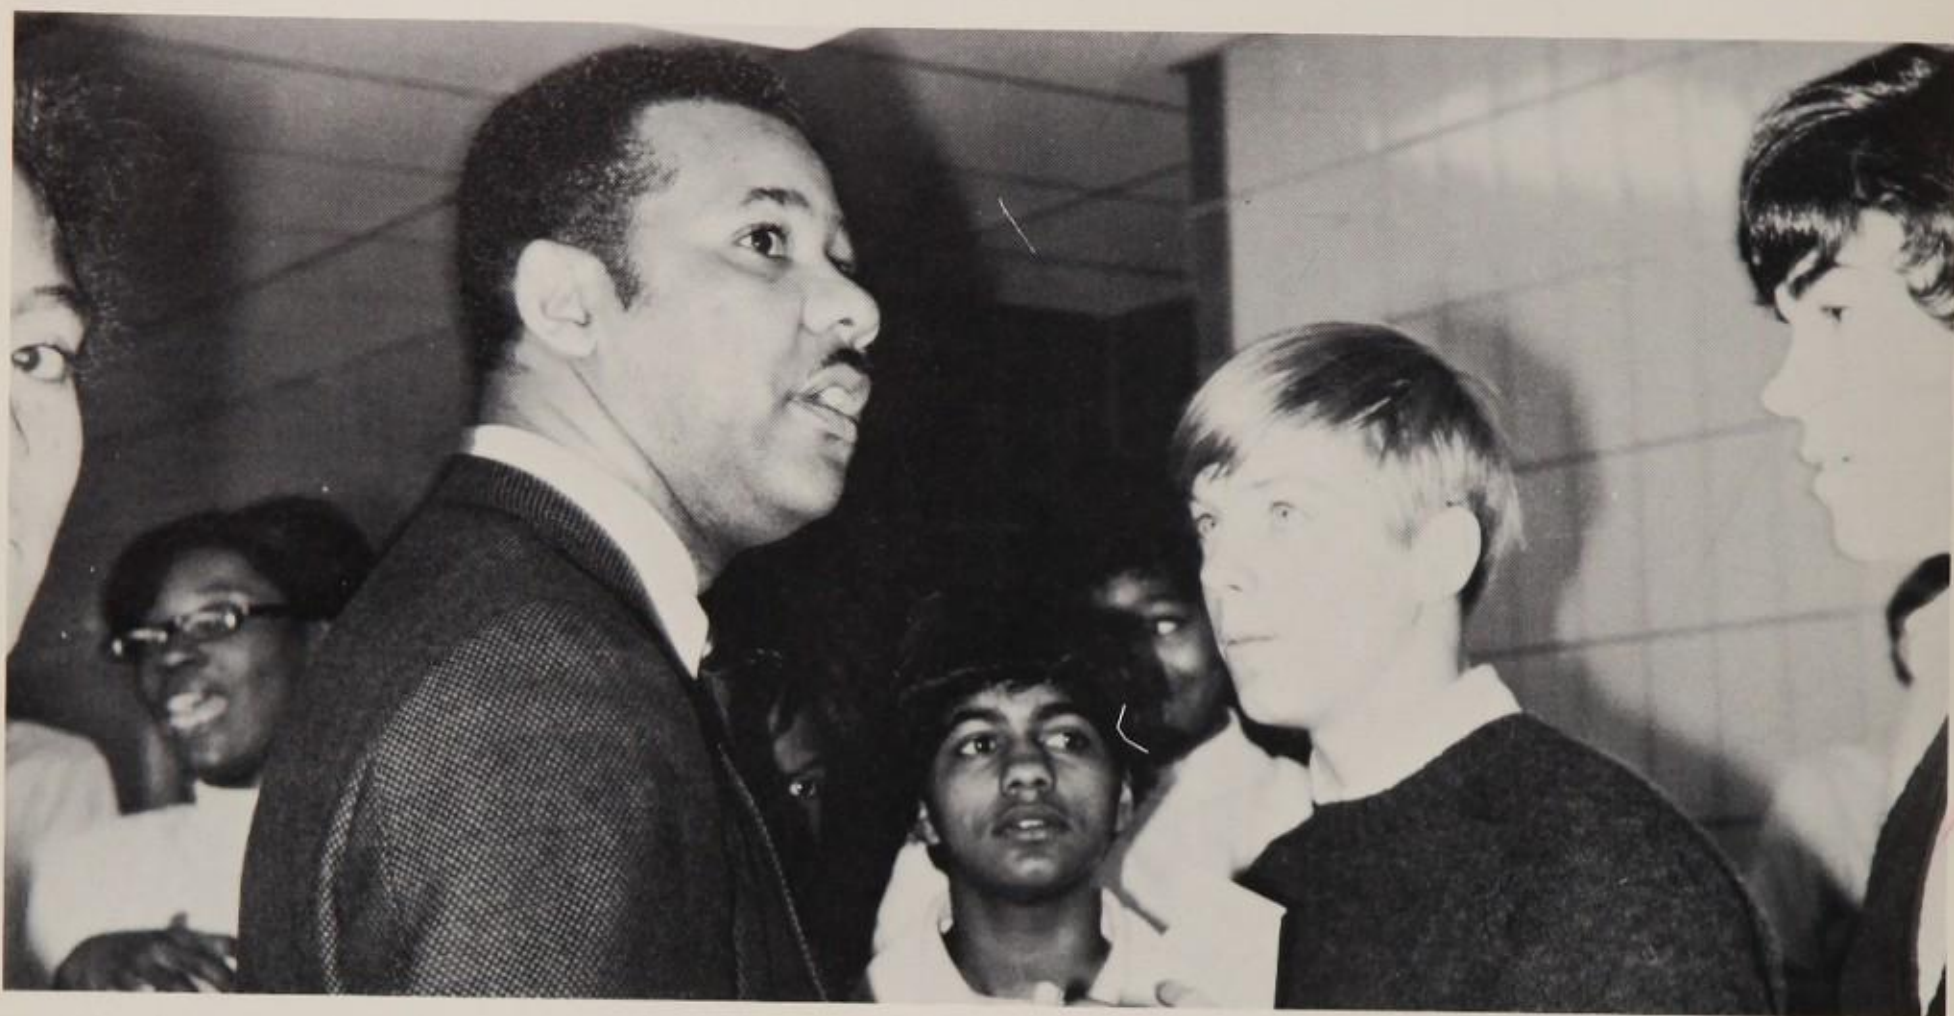

As each person discovers and reaches his own personal "thing" in life he may remember one teacher who spent a little extra time to help him through a problem or else the teacher who gave him a second chance. At that time, for the first time in your life, you may find yourself saying, "Hey, you know school wasn't so bad after all!"

In his most demanding position as principal of Willow Run High School, Mr. Nelson is challenged by a multitude of duties.

Vice Principals Fitzpatrick and Brent can also expect a full day's work ahead of them every school day.

Everything from student and parent conferences to affirming Pep Assemblies are the jobs of our administration whose responsibilities are never terminated with the end of 6 hours, but only continue from day to day.

papers rustle, in english department

Subjects such as Basic Grammar, Journalism, American Literature, Modern Novel, Drama and Speech are examples of the subjects that can be taken in our vast English department.

Teachers who teach English at Willow Run make that subject anything but dull. How would doing a pantomime in Speech grab you? Imagine walking by a classroom and seeing someone acting like their flying a kite or eating a messy ice cream!

maps and charts rattle in social studies department

Brains churning, pens scratching and papers rustling are the sounds of students hard at work in the department of Social Studies.

From Columbus discovering America to Abraham Lincoln freeing the slaves to our social life and not to mention State and Local Government is what all of these teachers teach.

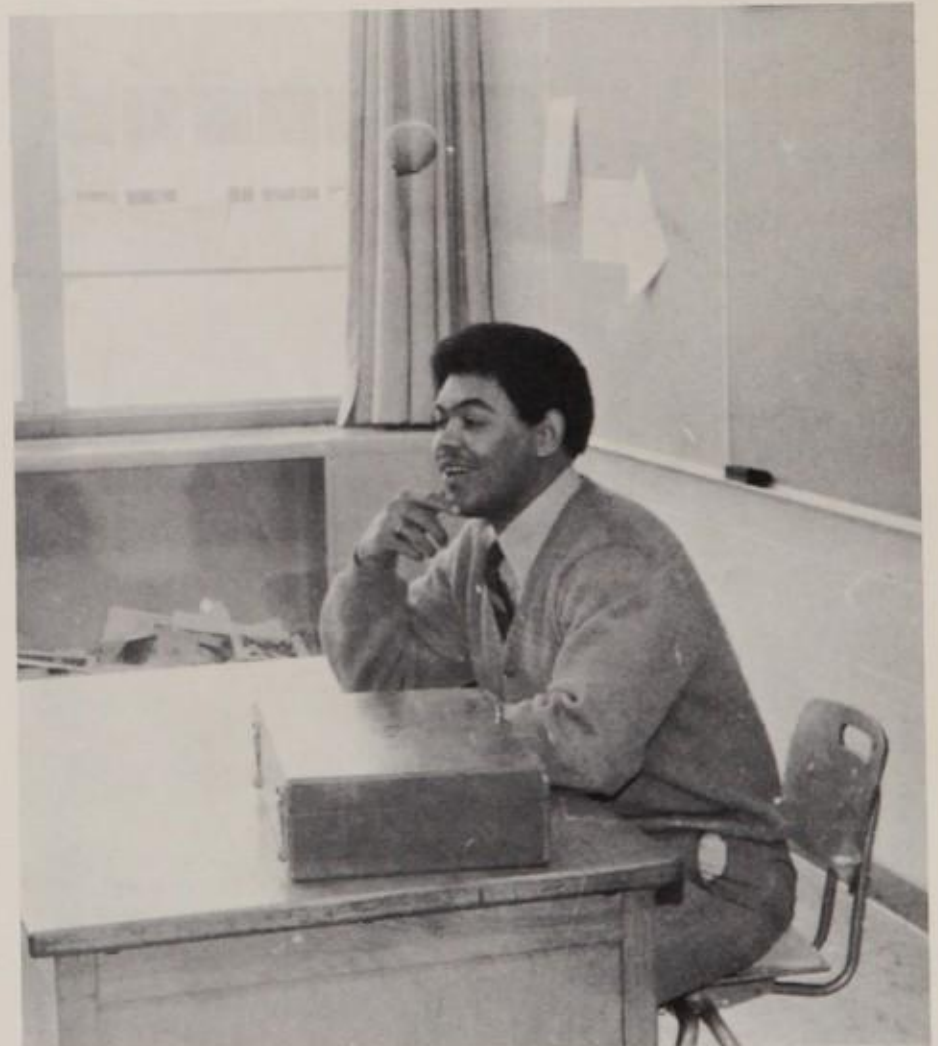

Civics, World History, U.S. History, Sociology, U.S. Government and Economics are the subjects which can be taken in our vast Social Studies department.

experiments bubble, in science department

Ughs from girls as they dissect frogs and an explosion from the chemistry lab, are the sounds that would come from the Science department. This department includes classes such as Biology, General Science, which is concerned with life in all forms, Chemistry, which is the study of compounds and elements, and Physics.

calculating minds whirr, in math department

Students have a wide variety of choices to choose from in the field of Math. They include anything from Algebra and Geometry to Math Analysis and Math Logic. Heads throbbing and the sounds of nails being chewed is what you might expect if you walked into a Math class. We all know that Math is a tough subject, but with the help of fantastic teachers, they make it a little bit easier!

The clicking of typewriters or the groans of students trying to make words out of squiggles in Shorthand are the sounds you would hear from the Commercial department.

pounds out a beat

The tuning of instruments, the booming of a bass drum, clangs from a dropped triangle and a squeak from the violin section is what you might hear from the Music department at Willow Run High School. Under the direction of James Waarala, the Concert Band and the Marching Band gives the students of W.R.H.S. a sense of pride, and the members of the band a sense of accomplishment.

Although our orchestra is small, it is said that "good things come in small packages". Under the direction of Metro Kozak, our orchestra is certainly a good thing!

The sound of tape churning on a tape recorder while students repeat, "Wie geht es Ihnen", is what you might hear if you walked into one of the Foreign Language classes. (Guess which one?) Teachers help students to perfect the reading and writing skills in such languages as Spanish, German, French, or Latin.

Clanging of pots, scraping of pans and the humming of a sewing machine are certainly the sounds which would come from no other than the Home Ec room. Every year Mrs. Swartz and Mrs. Thompson get more than their share of poked fingers, burnt gingerbread men and crooked hems!

The squeak of a tennis shoe on the basketball court, cracking of a bat and cheers for a victory are sounds the Physical Education department are full of.

Students learn the techniques and rules of swimming, gymnastics, basketball, baseball, volleyball and many other sports and games.

projects hum, in art and on the job training

From swinging mobiles stirring in a breeze to the sounds of a student sculpturing, the Art department is a land of fantasy and realism both beautiful and odd. The work of talented students are often displayed in the book case near the office.

On the job training students enrich their school experience by coordinating jobs outside the school with their school work.

To the secretaries, the ringing of phones, humming of electric typewriters and the sounds of students complaining is everyday business. The work of the secretaries is surely a credit to Willow Run High School.

The people we all depend on to listen to all our crying, whining and gripes are the Counselors. A day doesn't go by when Mr. Webster, Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Tobin and Miss Anema don't solve a major crisis. Sometimes they even make the schedule change you wanted!

Clanking of pots and the swishing of brooms are the sounds you hear coming from our cooks and custodians. The cooks spend the entire morning cooking good lunches and adding a little something to their meals. The custodians have the hard job of keeping our school spic and span. baseball flyers set all time school record

It's a good season for baseball, 1969-1970. With Coach Gerald Ostoin and an all time school record of 6-3, the team has something to be proud of.

The exceptional teamwork that the Flyers displayed this year brought these players to T.V.C.: Alan Grater, catcher; Willie Thomas, left field; Mike Keen, 1st base; Ed Chandler, pitcher. There was also an honorable mention to: Doug Layne, 3rd base; Mike Carmony, 2nd base; and Jimmy Rains, pitcher.

all the fun for everyone

Extracurricular activities have always played an essential part in the education in schools, and Willow Run High School is no exception. When studying begins to become too routine, students need a change and they have no trouble finding it here at Willow Run.

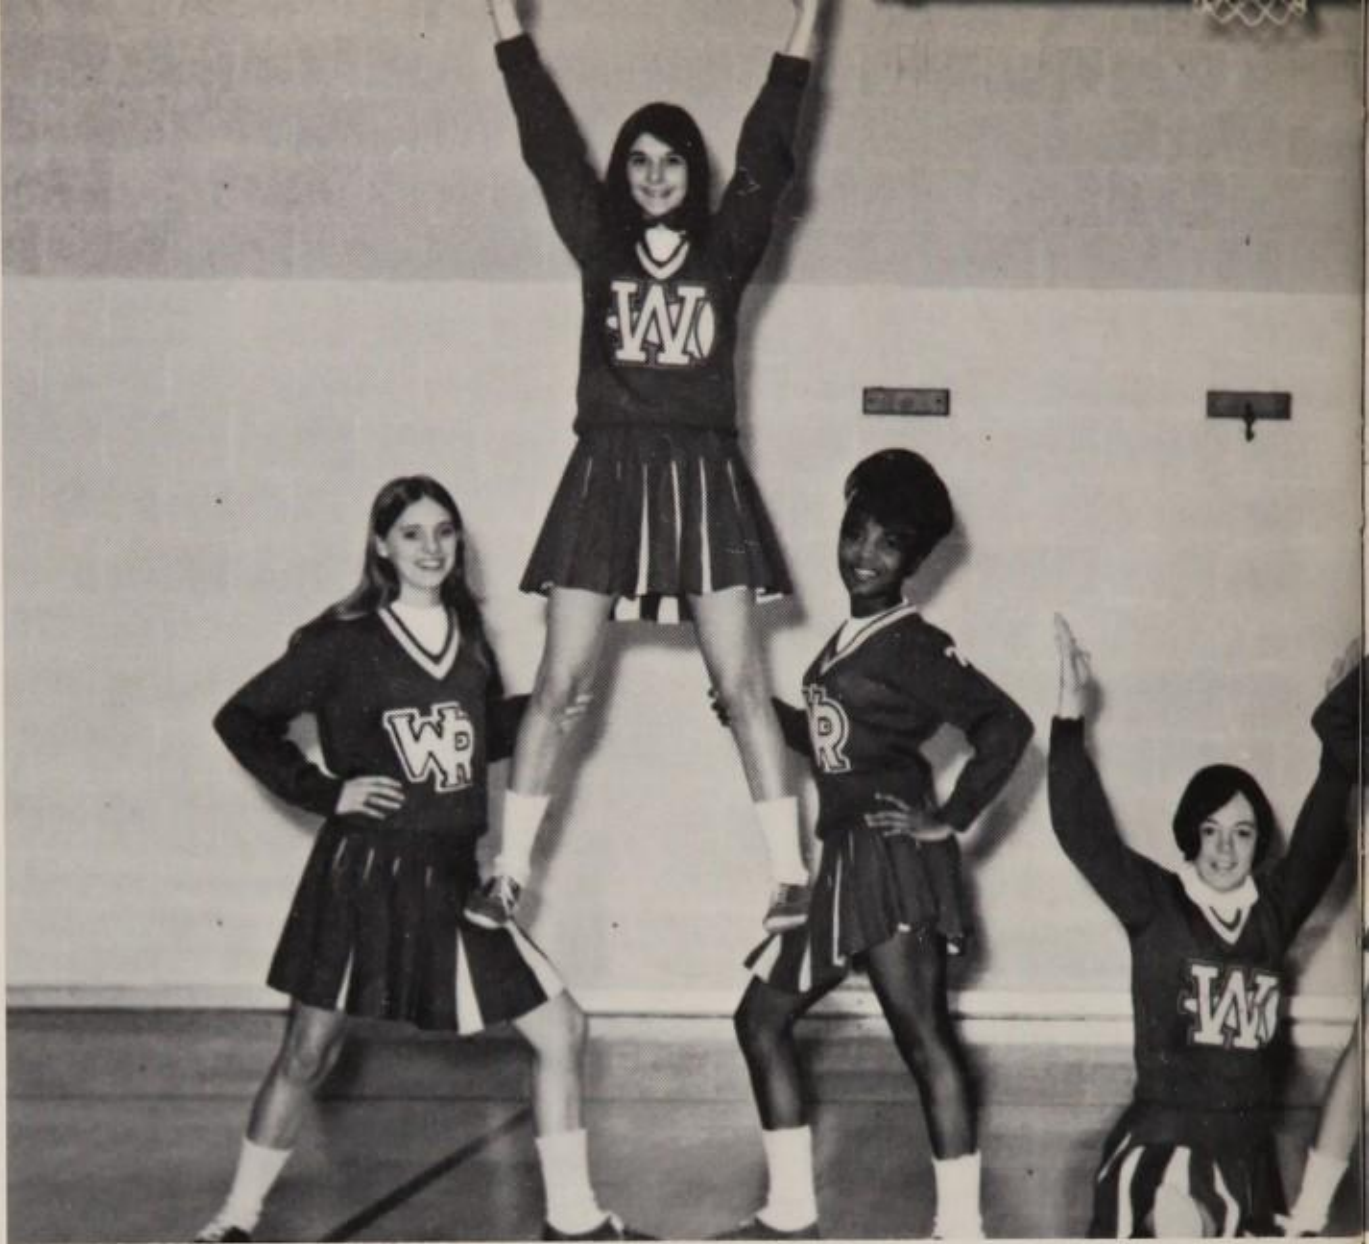

These organizations range from foreign languages to preparations for future occupations, so each student has a large choice of exciting activities that gives each student a chance to "do their thing." Together the sponsor and his group plan fun and educational projects that will provide a new experience and knowledge for each member.

Whether the activity is playing field hockey or writing a poem, they all further satisfaction through cooperation with others toward mutual goals.

at it's best

some more hard work on the "flypaper"

This year the school paper the "Flypaper" underwent quite a few changes. The first change was the name, it used to be called the "Echo" but this year's staff decided to be different and a little eccentric by re-naming it the "Flypaper." The next thing the staff did was to try to put out a weekly paper. They did a pretty good job of it by putting out 27 issues. The staff worked on the paper every 5th & 6th hours. Everyone had a great time publishing the flypaper. We hope you enjoyed reading it as much as we enjoyed printing it! We would also like to thank Spike Diamond for his tremendous help in printing. Miss Kress, our advisor, was also a great help! Thank-you!

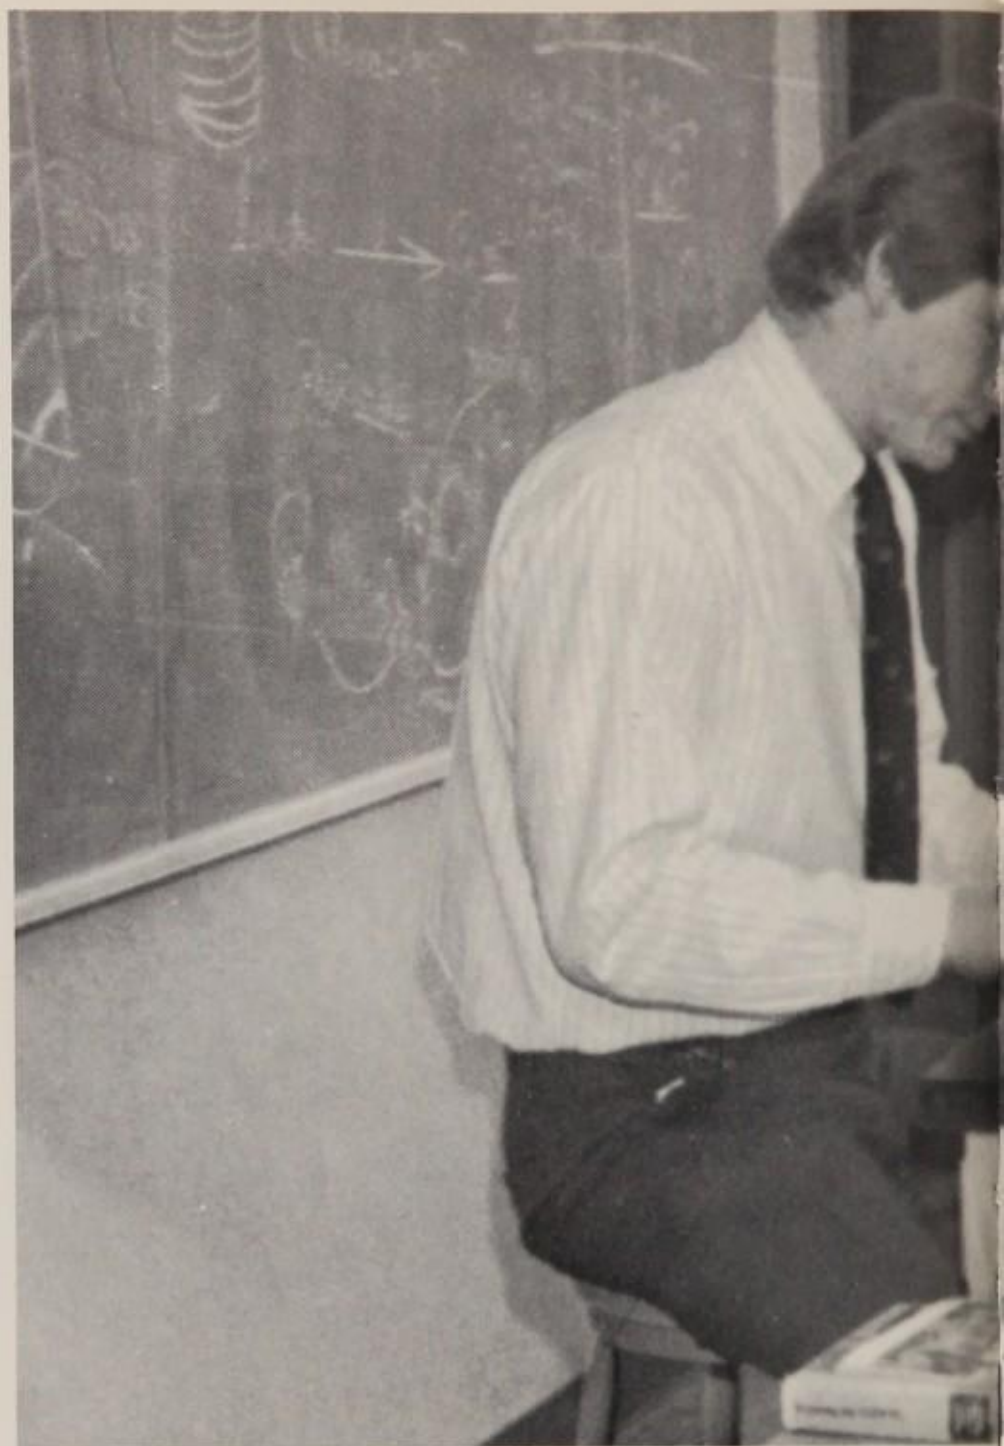

Our Future "Flypaper" editors, Patty Phelps, and Sheilah Taylor for 1970-1971.

f.n.a.prepares for the sick education is for . . . the eager and f.t.a.

From visiting the retarded childrens' school to having a radio raffled off are some of the activities the Future Nurses Club have. With the Sponsor, Mr. Brieger and President, Leslie Ford, the club had a pretty active year. The club also sponsored some bakes sales, toured Parke Davis, visited the Rackham Building, and took a trip to an orphanage in Farmington, Michigan.

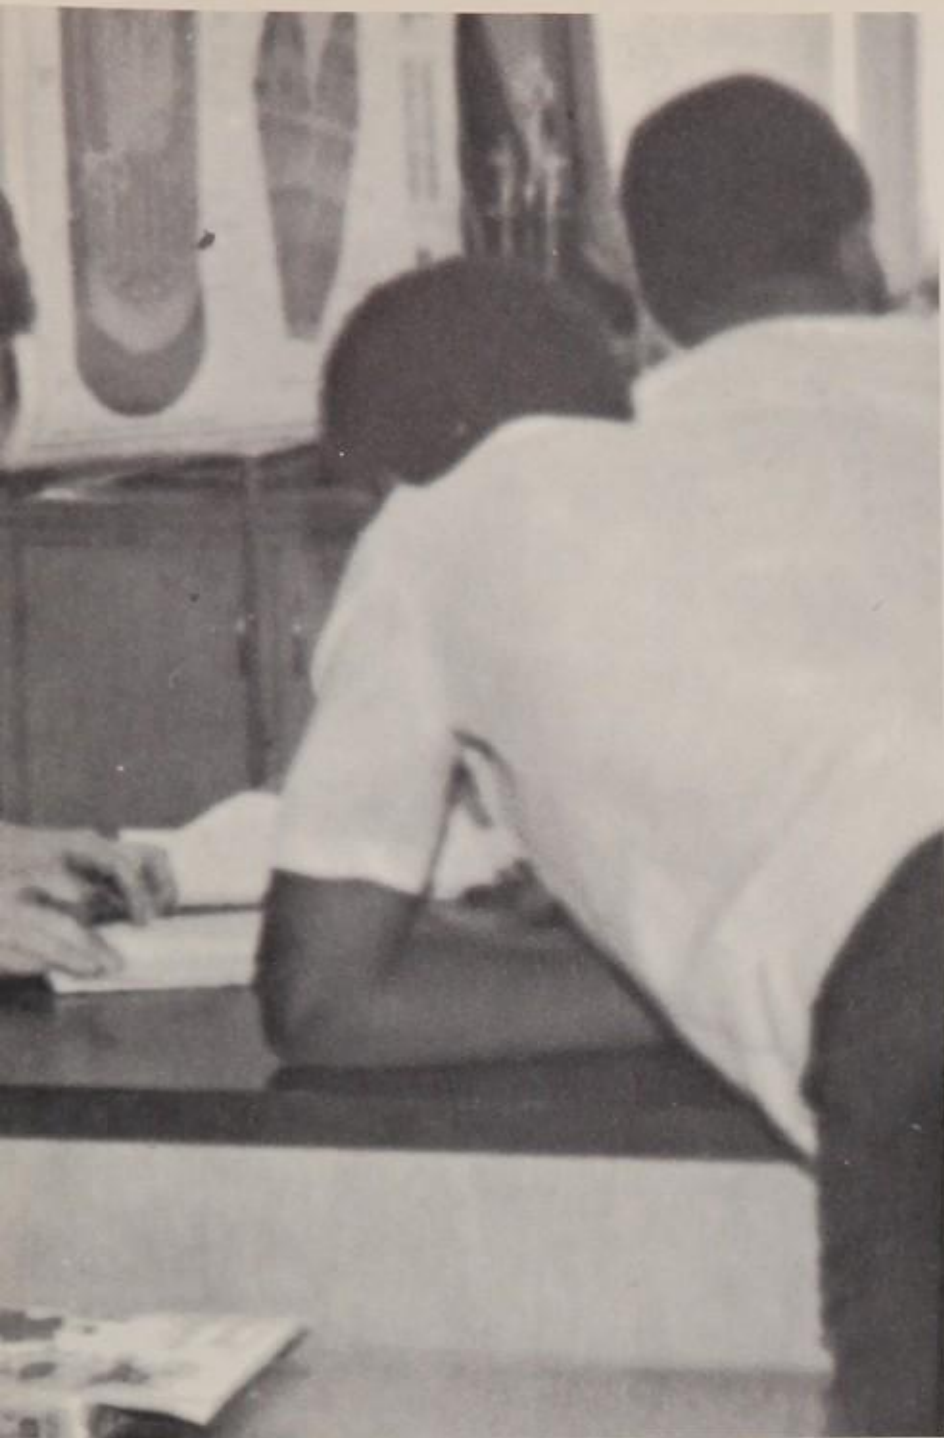

Under the advisement of Mr. Duhm, the Future Teachers Club prepare themselves for their teaching careers in the future. All the members try and get credit in some way possible like teaching a class, to help prepare them for their college education.

fun . . . excitement,
glamour, memories . . .

With all the suspense of Homecoming, the last minutes in Willow Run High School, our graduating class and all the clowning and fun, W.R. has had a pretty exciting year. There will always be glamour, glory and many memories from our Social Events.

beauty, pomp, laughter, mark homecoming

On the night of November 7, 1969, excitement reigned in the hearts of seven young ladies. The extra excitement was understandable, for it was Homecoming and the seven young ladies were the 1969-70 Homecoming Court.

An early voting for the Homecoming Court left a long wait full of butterflies, shopping for the special dress and asking that special guy to be your escort.

"Homecoming Fever" first appeared in the eyes of Willow Run High School students when the court was introduced at a Pep Assembly. Sara Beachum, Pam Branch, JoAnn Cook, Jackey Maxey, Teresa Powell, Gloria Taylor and Cindy White were the names that were read off while screams of excitement and tears of joy echoed through the Gym.

Then the work began for each of the individual classes. Each class had a class meeting to decide what their float was going to be about. For several weeks everybody worked on their float heart and soul trying to make their float the best. The Sophomores seemed to accomplish this feat by claiming first place.

During Pep Week all sorts of unusual people roamed the halls of Willow Run High School. Gangsters, Indians and pajama clad people were a part of students trying to earn points for being the most spirited class in the school. After an electrifying week the Juniors were given the trophy at the Homecoming Pep Assembly for being the class with the most pep!

Finally Homecoming night came. Each of the girls walked onto the field as her name was being announced. Shivering from the cold, the girls waited impatiently for that final announcement. It seemed to take forever but finally over the loud-speaker you heard "The 1969-70 Homecoming Queen is . . . Miss Sara Beachum".

prom and graduation highlight class of '69's senior year

Under dim lights, couples danced in McKinney hall as they enjoyed the 1968-69 Junior-Senior prom, entitled "LOVE IS BLUE".

Beautiful decorations including a huge Eiffel Tower accented the room giving it the air of pure France.

Debbie Hyatt reigned over her court, and the dance with bubbling excitement. Her court consisted of, Seniors, Cherry Maynor, Marsha Colwell, and Juniors, Gloria Taylor, and Cindy White.

Graduation day is usually considered one of the most important days in a person's life and the class of '69 is no exception.

With fond memories of good times and a dream for a bright future, the graduates listen to the Valedictorian, Richard Byrd and Salutatorian, Dennis Massey. They received their diplomas and marched to a new life outside the halls of Willow Run.

What a Prom! The setting was beautiful Weber's and the decor followed the theme of "An Evening in Venice." The band was lively and the dance floor crowded. Refreshments were light at Weber's and all prom-goers ended the evening by feasting at local fancy restaurants.

Blonde and radiant Doris Sutherland was crowned Queen and lovely Terri Harvey was named Princess.

It was a special and festive evening for everyone.

Being chosen as a member of the Honor Guard by the Senior class is certainly an honor in itself. The Honor Guard represents the Juniors as well the new Seniors when the present Seniors graduate.

Tears of joy and tears of sadness are the mixed emotions of every graduating class. In the minds of each person there is much anticipation and a touch of fear as they begin a new life outside the halls of Willow Run High School.

In 1966 the class of 1970 began it's hard (?) struggle through Willow Run High. As freshmen many activities such as bake sales and fun nites put us off to a good financial start.

To start a new and exciting sophomore year our first achievement was receiving runner-up in the float competition. Trying to raise school spirit, we sold class buttons and school pennants. The year ended with the greatest highlight of all, our class rings.

Pop bottle hunts, dances and candy sales raised our treasury considerably. Finally after almost three years of raising money we put it to good use. As juniors we gave the Junior-Senior Prom, entitled, "LOVE IS BLUE." It was given at McKinny Union. An Eiffel Tower, outside cafe, and French dressed waitresses filled the atmosphere of the ballroom with a Paris mood.

Under the guidance of Miss Kress, Mr. Devlin and senior counselor Mr. Johnson our senior year has been the best. The exciting game and Sara Beachum as queen made our homecoming a very memorable night.

The biggest money raising project ever at W.R.H.S. was accomplished by the seniors. That was the Teachers Auction. The feeling of being seniors became more and more to us as we ordered our graduation announcements and were measured for our caps and gowns.

For our senior trip we went to New York. There we learned about the cities of which New York City is famous.

"Evening in Venice" was the theme for the prom during our senior year. Weber's was the spot for it. This evening was a time for all of us to dress our nicest and act in a more grown up manner.

Before we knew it, it was graduation. As we walked down the aisle before receiving our diplomas all the memories of the past four years and more were running through our minds. Those were four years the class of 1970 will always remember.

sophomores active, spirited, ambitious

The class of 1972 has had a great year. They have sponsored many successful activities such as fun nights, bake sales, candy sales, a dance and a car wash to raise the amount of money in their treasury. These projects were made possible by their sponsors Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Neeley and Mr. Scott. They were planned and worked out by their officers, President Ron Brooks, Vice-President Kathy Ferguson, Business Manager Cameron Cheeks, Secretary Karen Lovejoy, Assistant Secretary Sue Russell and Treasurer Theresa Painter.

All Sophomores were very proud to be a part of the class of 1972 on April 29th, when they received their class rings.

The biggest accomplishment of this year to them was winning first place in the float competition, on Homecoming night. The slogan of their float was "Dial 'V' for Victory." Brenda Bevins, Aldred Burroughs, Micky Glover and Larry Widner had the honor of riding their float.

The class of 1972 has two great years of fun and excitement behind them and looks forward to another great year ahead, and would like to say, "Congratulations Seniors and Good Luck!"

“green”, lively; enthusiastic, freshmen

In September of 1960 the class of 1973 entered Willow Run High School as Freshmen. They were full of enthusiasm and pride for their class and ready to start their high school activities. They worked together and turned out their first float. It was very successful with the slogan, "The Busy Bee of 73, Will Buzz it's way to Victory." They had a good year under the leadership of their sponsors, Mrs. Shields and Mr. Breiger. Also with their officers: Rhonda Gullett, President, Sheila Pruitt, Vice-President, Vicki Nelson, Secretary, and Bob Erickson, Treasurer.

When I look back over this year as Editor-in-Chief, my first thought is not to look back. There were so many discouraging times when it would have been so nice to forget about the book. Through all those times when I acted so hateful, few people stuck around, but Heidi Kress was one who did. No one could have been more of a help, no one could have been more patient, and no one could have taught me more about myself and others than she did. She was always there with the right thing to say. And so I'd like to take this opportunity to thank her for every thing she has done. I'm grateful to her for helping me so much.

I'd also like to thank Penny Bishop and everyone from UofD and the people who helped me learn so much.

Above: The yearbook sponsor can finally sleep now that the book is finished. Left: Editor Irene Lucas has made the final plans for the yearbook as she graduates.
